Mary Chatter's
Weekly Letter

and Clarence Berry, and in Clarksburg they were the guests of Judge and Mrs. Roy Waugh. Whenever one thinks of Sarah he is reminded of the good candy she makes and her high bridge scores. Brooks and Rae Hutchinson were in Pittsburgh this week to attend the wedding of Florence Myers and Cloris Parker, which took place Thursday night. Florence has visited Rae here several times. Have I told you that Rae and Brooks have an attractive little baby daughter who is several months old now? She inherited Rae's good looks and is destined to break more than her share of hearts when she makes her debut a few years hence.

On Tuesday night there was rehearsal for the Hall-Robinson wedding, and afterwards Louise entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests who were here for the wedding, at dinner in the Country Club. It being Halloween night they all came down street afterwards, and they certainly looked funny wending their way down Adams street in evening clothes.

With so many of the girls marrying and moving out of town the Wednesday Bridge Club is gradually dwindling down to four tables. Mary Margaret Talbot entertained it Wednesday afternoon in the Country Club, and everyone had an awfully good time, although no one held very good cards.

Bernard and Fanny Arnetto, who was Frances Hammond, the youngest of the Hammond girls, have returned from a rather belated honeymoon in the East. They motored and were gone about two weeks. On their way home they stopped in Morgantown to see the West Virginia-Rutgers football game, and Fanny had a glorious time. I've never seen people settle down like they have, since they were married.

On Tuesday Nell Dickerson had a lovely luncheon in her home in Fairmont avenue for the out-of-town guests who were here for the Hall-Robinson wedding. Covers were laid for fourteen, and the guests included Mrs. C. L. Robinson and Mrs. Fred Robinson of Winchester, Va.; Mrs. Frank Robinson of Charles Town, W. Va.; Mrs. Robinson of Winchester, Va.; Elizabeth Hoffman of Wheeling, who was the guest of Louise; Delmar Robinson, who Louise married; J. Luther Maphis, Jr., and Donald McFadden of Winchester.

Blake and Chesner Ramage came back Tuesday from a delightful motor trip to Boston, Mass., Provincetown on Cape Cod, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and through the Berkshire Hills. While they were in Boston Chesner was made a member of the American College of Surgeons, which is a great honor as you probably know. While there their charming little daughter, stayed with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Lemley of Cassville, who they were visiting.

O. E. Hutchinson, who is "Bobby" and "Jimmie" and Paul's father, is in Battle Creek, Mich., and Martha and Jack Colborn and "Artie" and Mae Dechman are registered at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

I can't tell you very much about Louise's wedding for I wasn't there, but from all accounts it was very pretty and she was a beautiful bride. It took place at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in her home in Pittsburgh avenue and she was attended by Martha, her little sister, as flower girl and Mildred Robinson, one of her close friends and Delmar's cousin as maid-of-honor. Delmar was attended by J. Luther Maphis, Jr., of Winchester, as best man. Louise was given in marriage by her father, Homer Hall. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. D. Craig, pastor of the Diamond Street Methodist Episcopal Church, and the wedding feast was played by Frances Haggerty of Farmington.

If you remember, Louise is a beautiful blonde, and I am sure she must have looked exquisite in her wedding gown of white tulle, which was beaded with crystal beads. Her veil was of tulle, with rose point crown, and was caught to her head, cap shape, with orange blossoms. She wore white satin slippers with rhinestone buckles and a wonderful looking diamond and platinum bag pin, which was Delmar's gift to her. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mildred wore a gown of cornflower blue lace and a beautiful silver-cloth headband, trimmed with tiny rosebuds, the gift of the bride. She carried yellow chrysanthemums. Martha, who is a lovely little brunette, wore a frock of yellow georgette and a gold-tooth headband, which was also a present from Louise.

A reception at the house followed the ceremony and receiving with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Robinson, Mildred and the best man.

The guests were invited to the dining room by Mrs. J. Lee Hall.

an aunt of the bride and coffee was poured by Mrs. Harry Robinson, who is Mildred's mother. The wedding cake was prepared over by Mary Robinson, Delmar's sister. Serving were Mary Moulds Hurst, Mary Greer, Florence Hutchinson and Elizabeth Hoffman, or "Huff," as she is known to her intimate friends. Nina Simon, who is now Mrs. Charles Shuttleworth of Clarksburg, had charge of the guest book.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Florence, and when the cake was cut Mary Hurst drew the wedding ring. Mary Greer received the coin and the wishbone went to Mary Robinson.

Louise's going away frock, was of navy blue pique tulle, trimmed with Harding blue and with this she wore a blue and silver cloth turban trimmed with seal fur and a seal coat. Her shoes were of black patent leather and gray suede.

After the reception they left on the 9:40 train for the East, and the best man and Donald McFadden went with them.

Mr. McFadden is very attractive (indeed, one of the members of the bridal party seemed to find him so), and before leaving he announced his intention of returning Christmas.

In these days with equal suffrage, women are now rushing back and forth to their homes for the purpose of voting. Mrs. A. L. Lehman, who needless to say is a Republican, will come here from Charleston Monday to vote, as will Judge and Mrs. J. A. Meredith, who are also located in Charleston now.

Mrs. James O. Watson, who lives at Fort Hill, and is Eleanor's and Mary's mother, returned Wednesday morning from Washington, where she visited Mary who is at Miss Maderia's school there.

Edna and Truman Johnson have also been east this month, visiting friends and relatives in New York City and Boston. While in Boston they attended the Harvard-Dartmouth football game.

Ned and Elsie Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Osman Swartz motored yesterday to Martinsburg, where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell and Miss Anna Richey, with whom they will tour the Valley of Virginia. While gone they will see the Washington and Lee and University of Virginia football game.

Merle Holt Rowe entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home in Walnut avenue for Garnet Miller of Baltimore, who used to live here. The guests included the members of a bridge club to which Merle belongs and everyone was glad to see Garnet again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCoy and Jeanette and Caroline Bright just came back from Pittsburgh, where they were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Parker. While there they attended the Rotary club luncheon, which was held in the William Penn Hotel. Harry Lauder sang at the luncheon, and the Bright girls were quite thrilled to hear him.

Jo Chambers had a nice luncheon in the Country Club yesterday for Sue Watson Stockley, who is visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson. On Thursday Ryo Fleming had a luncheon for her sister, Mrs. Louis O. Smith and Angelina McManaway of Clarksburg, who are her guests, and for Sue, in her home in Fairmont avenue.

As the month progresses everyone is beginning to look about Thanksgiving and the football game in Morgantown and the dinner dance at the Fairmont. The dance will be held on Wednesday night before Thanksgiving and Mr. Fatt, who is manager of the hotel, has promised to have a good orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Alexander, who are the parents of Edward and Virginia Alexander Barnes, have returned from New York where they stopped in Lawrenceville, N. J., to see "Alice," who is in school there, and they met Helen Robinson Stoecker and John, who have not returned from their honeymoon yet. John went to Lawrenceville and Princeton, you know. Virginia is here now, visiting her mother and father.

The first Pan-Hellenic at the University was held last night, and the girls who went down for it were Louise Johnson, Jessie Church, Jean Billingsley, Ruby Hoss, Frances McCray, Julia White, Mary Roush, Mary Greer, Mary Hurst, Marjorie LeMasters, and Lucile Lough.

Edith Hartman Ely and her little son Stuart Ely Jr., are the guests of Edith's parents in Beadon avenue. Mrs. Hartman was recently operated on in the West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh and Edith brought her home.

Devotedly,
MARY CHATTER.

FARMINGTON RALLY.

Judge William S. Hammond and Mrs. Margaret Fowler were the principal speakers at the Democratic rally held at Farmington last night. A large crowd attended the meeting. An explanation of details of the present campaign featured the theme of the addresses.

BELLVIEW

Class Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Reynolds was the scene of a very pretty party Thursday evening when their son Junior entertained the teachers and members of the Sunday school class of the Highland Avenue Sunday School of which he is a member. The affair featured both the Hal-lowe'en and the Thanksgiving seasons. Several of the youthful guests appeared in masquerade costumes. Games and amusements of various kinds were provided for the youngsters, and class record books and Thanksgiving cards were given as favors. On Sunday morning this class, which is taught by Charles Yates, will have photographs made which appear in one of the local papers at an early date. Refreshments, home-made candy, pickles, ice cream, cake and root beer were served the party. Those present were: Betty Thompson, Hascal Thompson, Wayne Carroll, Harold Bondy, Edward Lipinski, Wilbur Satterfield, Roland Peters, William Peters, William Higginbotham, Edgar Yates, Andrew Harris, Bates Swisher, Roy Martin, Billy Conley, Lawrence Riggs and the teacher, Mr. Yates.

Murray Avenue Party.

Mrs. L. W. Shroyer entertained the members of her Sunday school class and their families at her home in Murray avenue Tuesday evening. There were about twenty guests present to enjoy the good time. Halloween games and contests were features of the evening's amusement and refreshments were served at a suitable hour. Mrs. Shroyer is teacher of class No. 3 of the third year primary grade.

Typhoid Fever.

Clifford and Catherine Smith, young children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith who reside in Russell street, are ill with typhoid fever. Another child in the family, who also appeared to be contracting the disease, is somewhat improved at this time. Waverline, 7-year-old daughter of Charley Wilson, also of Russell street, is a patient at Cook Hospital and is very ill with typhoid fever.

Shower Party.

Mrs. Rose Parker and daughter Elinor, Mrs. Marjorie McDaniel and daughter Mary and Miss Mattie Miller attended a shower party which was given for Mrs. May Hall of Guffy street, Fairmont, whose marriage was a recent event. Twenty guests were present and Mrs. Hall received a number of pretty and useful gifts. Mrs. Hall is a member of the Barnesville school faculty.

Hospital Patient.

Miss Georgia Williams, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Williams of Pennsylvania avenue, is a patient at Cook Hospital, where she was taken Thursday evening. Miss Williams is suffering from a serious attack of typhoid fever.

Betsy Ross Circle.

Bellview members of the Betsy Ross Circle of the G. A. R. have been advised that the circle will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Simeon Bright in the Oakwood road Friday evening.

Life and Character Reading.

NOVEMBER 4.

The governing sign of this date is Scorpio. Persons of this date have remarkable skill with the use of their hands. Their touch is so firm and delicate, their observation so keen, their pulse so perfect, that they will make the very best surgeons in the world. They are not moved by the complaints or fears of their patients, and preserve the coolness of their native element under all circumstances, even the most trying.

One strong characteristic of these people is a silent, dignified superiority of appearance. This is a very important factor in their success. They are, however, usually affable and courteous when not engaged in serious business.

The governing planet is Mars, the birthstone is a topaz. The astral colors are golden brown and black.
